

Try These Sweet Treats On National Dessert Day

OCTOBER 14, 2016 – 5:03 PM – 0 COMMENTS

5

By RACHEL C. WEINGARTEN @rachelcw

(Pixabay)

It's #NationalDessertDay, the day when even grown ups get to indulge a bit too much (and the day that's probably a favorite on your dentist's calendar as well). Before you start indulging in everything, though, consider some of these other fun+yum options.

Jelly Belly Cupcakes (or Cake!): I met Terry Howard, co-founder of The Invisible Chef, a line of gourmet dessert mixes, at the Fancy Food Show in New York earlier this year. She showed me some of the fun collaborations between her brand and Jelly Belly, the iconic jelly bean brand. I tried the candy cane chocolate mix and was pleasantly surprised to note that while it doesn't quite taste like a jelly bean, it definitely is richer tasting than your average mix.